Oratorical Contest To Be Held On May 2

The thirty-fourth annual contest of the Virginia Intercollegiate Oratorical Association will be held at Roanoke College on Friday evening, May 2.

The institutions which will be represented are Washington and Lee, Roanoke, Hampden-Sidney, Emory and Henry, Randolph-Macon, University of Richmond, William and Mary and Lynchburg.

The oratorical contests of previous years have been eminently successful and have aroused considerable interest throughout the State. It is urged that all forensic organizations on the campus co-operate in preparing for and conducting the preliminaries in order to have the best possible material from which to choose the representative from William and Mary.

All bona-fide undergraduate students are eligible for the preliminaries, the date of which will be announced later.

Freshman Awarded A. R. C. Bravery Medal

The "honorable service" medal of the Red Cross Life Saving Corps has been awarded to Anna Wilkens, of San Antonio, Texas, a member of the Freshman class, for saving the life of Earl Rochester, aged 14, at Covington Park, San Antonio, last June.

"It was quite simple," said Miss Wilkens speaking of the rescue. "I was on the beach at Covington Park all prepared for swimming when I heard a scream and saw the boy, who had gotten in a hole, struggle, throw up his arms, and sink. I just jumped in and pulled him out."

Numbers of persons were about, Miss Wilkens stated, who doubtless would have helped if she had not anticipated them.

"Yes, he was only fourteen," said Miss Wilkens, smiling, "but I didn't know until then how big a fourteen year old boy could be."

Miss Wilkens has been connected with the swimming department of the Y. W. C. A. at San Antonio for several years and is now Student Assistant in Swimming at the College.

New Course Offered In Home Economics

The Home Economics Department is offering a new course during the spring quarter, according to announcement of Mrs. Fannie Lou Stryker, head of the department. This course, which is designated as Home Economics 131, is a brief survey of Home Problems, and is intended primarily to benefit those girls who are working for B. S. and B. A. degrees, and who have had no work in this subject. The course will carry five credit hours, instead of six as stated in the catalog, and will consist of three lectures a week, with two laboratory periods.

Home Economics 131 is intended primarily for juniors and seniors, but others may be admitted upon application to the instructor. This course will include a few fundamentals of home-making, such as choice, care and wise buying of food and household fabrics, home and personal budgeting, simple meal preparation and hospitality for the home, the making of simple garments, and as many other phases of home activity as time will permit. The course will aim to meet the needs and wishes of the students as far as possible, and, as it carries full credit toward any degree, as many girls as possible should take the course.

Sullivan To Deliver Lecture Here March 28

Ted Sullivan, probably the greatest living authority on baseball in the United States today, will present his famous illustrated baseball lecture at William and Mary College Friday evening, March 28, at 8 o'clock. The lecture is being given under the auspices of the Omicron Delta Kappa honorary fraternity and the proceeds will be directed toward buying uniforms for the baseball team.

A feature of the lecture will be pictures and anecdotes of the famous world tour made by the New York Giants and Chicago White Sox in 1915. Sullivan was the originator of the idea and made the trip as manager and director of the teams. While on the trip Sullivan gained a great deal of publicity and was instrumental in introducing baseball into several foreign countries.

Sullivan has letters from many people of note, including former Presidents Taft and Wilson, commending him on the great influence for good which he has brought into the game.

Sullivan visited William and Mary several days ago with regard to the proposed series abroad this summer between William and Mary and Harvard. It was at this time that he offered to give his lecture for the benefit of those who might be interested in the origin and growth of baseball.

The lecture will be held in Jefferson Hall gymnasium. Tickets may be secured at the College Shop, and at both of the local drug stores.

Education In Mexico Castaneda's Subject

The third and last of the series of lectures under the auspices of the Spanish Club was delivered in Chapel Tuesday evening by Professor Castaneda. The attendance was smaller than at the other two in the series, due, no doubt, to the bad weather.

The subject of Professor Castaneda's lecture was Education in Mexico. He spoke of the wonderful strides that had been made in education in Mexico, calling attention to the fact that until 1857 there was no effort in the direction of a constructive educational policy. In fact, he stated, there was no public education.

He then told of the great work that is being done today in Mexico. "What was not many years ago only a nominal system of public education—a system that was public in name only—is today a great educational scheme, working for the good of every person in Mexico. Libraries have been established, not only in cities and towns, but in the very remote rural districts as well." The speaker then told of how circulating libraries of fifty volumes per unit are transported on mule back to the inaccessible places in Mexico. "Collections of good books are sent into territory where not even a vehicle can go," he stated.

Another interesting phase of educational work in Mexico which he re-

The following editorial, appearing in a recent issue of the Roanoke College Brackety-Ack, is reprinted for its value as a contribution to contemporary literature:

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS SENTENCE?

We have the greatest respect for the gentlemen of the faculty, who recently were so concerned about our abysmal ignorance of the king's English. However, whenever we detect a similar failing in others, we like to point it out. We believe that ignorance in high places ought to be exposed. For that reason we print the following sentence taken from the very resolution in which the faculty deplored our own lack of erudition:

If, in the judgment of the department, such extreme measures are not justifiable * * * the student shall be invited to appear before it, his errors pointed out, and warned out of the consequences of his failure to mend his practices.

Our intelligentsia—those who have a firm grip on grammar grade English—will view askance this specimen of professorial remissness. In spite of the gravity of the offense, we plead for as tolerant an appraisal as our fellow students can place upon it. Tact and wisdom only will serve in curing defects of this sort.

Turn about is fair play, according to an old saw. Our suggestion then, since we are to suffer for our shortcomings, is that we require the erring profs to take up correspondence courses in English until they can give satisfactory evidence of proficiency.

Nine Games To Be Played Next Fall

Coach Tasker and Manager Stuart have announced next year's football season, nine games will be played next season, three of them being home games. The schedule is completed with the exception of the first date, September 27. This game is to be played on the home grounds and the authorities have practically decided on the team, but the contract has not been signed. Both the Navy and Syracuse are on the schedule on the same dates as last year. One of the best games on the schedule is the game with King College, to be played in Richmond. King College ran up the largest score of any college in the country last year, although they did not play any team whereby their real strength could be adequately judged. The best home game is with Albright College, from Pennsylvania. This will be the first athletic relations between the two schools. Roanoke will be played in Newport News this year, the game being switched to this city instead of playing it on the home-and-home basis, as it is certain to draw a large crowd. The management has announced that all W. & M. students will be admitted to this game free, and a special train will be provided to handle the transportation end. On Thanksgiving Day we meet our old rivals, Richmond, as usual.

Schedule.

September 27—Pending, here.
October 4—Navy, Annapolis.
October 11—Syracuse, Syracuse.
October 18—Randolph-Macon, here.

November 8—Albright College, here.
November 15—Roanoke, Newport News.
November 27—Richmond, Richmond.

Theta's Champions Of Inter Frat Series

Theta Delta Chi won the championship of the Inter-Fraternity Basketball League last Monday in the College Night program by overwhelming Kappa Alpha 48 to 6. The victory over K. A. was the fourth straight win for the Theta's, who finished the season with a clean slate. Sigma Nu's 20 to 9 victory over Pi Kappa Alpha concluded the College Night celebration.

Theta Delta Chi completely outclassed Kappa Alpha in every phase of the game; their floorwork was perfect and their shooting was phenomenal, with Pollard and Lash caging the ball from the most difficult positions with apparent ease. The Theta's wild start at the initial whistle seemed to take the pep out of the Kappa Alpha team, and though they fought gamely, they were unable to find the basket at any time during the game.

Theta Delta Chi gave ample proof of its right to wear the Inter-Fraternity League Crown by establishing the longest lead obtained in any game during the season.

In the second game Pi Kappa Alpha forced Sigma Nu to the limit to win, hanging on throughout the game just a few points behind. Pi K. A. scored first on a foul goal, but after Wells started Sigma Nu off with a pretty shot from the side, the losing team never tied the score, but was at all times within striking distance.

Guarding was exceptionally close, and when the first half ended Sigma Nu had gained only a meagre advantage, holding the large end of a 5 to 3 score.

Both teams tired under the strain of the battle, but Sigma Nu showed its superiority by pulling away in the final minutes and establishing a substantial lead.

Daly's guarding and Saffelle's and Wells' shooting featured for the victors. Frazier was the outstanding point man for Pi Kappa Alpha, while Metcalf did aggressive guarding.

To End Spring Grill With Game Saturday

Spring football training will come to a close Saturday, March 15, with a game at two o'clock, at the fair grounds. About 50 men have been practicing daily for the last three weeks. Coach Tasker divided the men into two squads and assigned "Wince" Irvin, Parsons, and "Blunder" Young as coaches of one team and "Chesty" Cain, "Snook" Elliott, and "Keron" House as coaches of the other team.

The men were instructed in the rudiments and principles of the game and have shown rapid improvement. The men who make the best showing will be given bids to early season training next fall. Several new men show great promise of making good players.

This game will be bitterly contested, as rivalry is keen between the two teams. There will be no tickets sold for the game but fifteen cents admission will be charged at the gate. The funds will go to the benefit of the baseball team, so come out and enjoy a good football game while you support another at the same time. Your last chance to witness football for a long time.

Four Men Chosen For Debating Team

The intercollegiate debating preliminaries were held in chapel on Friday evening. Dr. Pollard, Dr. Hamilton and Dr. Montgomery served as judges.

The contestants were well prepared and showed exceptional ability, with the result that prospects for a successful year are bright. The men chosen to constitute the team, which will represent William and Mary, are E. C. Johnson, George W. Reilly, A. J. Winder and D. C. George.

Twenty-One Games On Baseball Card

The baseball schedule for the present season has been announced, showing a total of nineteen games already closed, eleven of which will be on the home grounds and eight away. Two other home games are pending and no doubt contracts will be signed in the near future.

The features of the schedule are games with Yale, in Richmond, on April 21, and home games with Syracuse, on April 22; Carolina State, May 3, with home games pending with University of North Carolina and Trinity, for April 23 and 24, respectively.

The schedule, as announced, follows:

Birds Subject Of Biology Club Talk

A lecture on birds, the first of a series to be delivered by members of the organization, by Margaret Keister, was the feature of the meeting of the Clayton Grimes Biology Club last Friday evening. This lecture series was introduced by W. E. Davis instructor in biology, and is proving most instructive to the club members.

The next meeting of the club, which was to have been held tonight, has been postponed for two weeks on account of examinations. Election of officers will be held at the next meeting, and all members are urged to attend. The date will be announced later.

Here And There

An "animals' cenotaph" will shortly be built near Hyde Park corner, London, in memory of the birds, beasts and fishes that died in the service of the British empire during the war.

A jazz band played "Yes, We Have No Bananas" and "Ain't We Got Fun" at the funeral of Jules Tantot, theater owner of Amiens, France. M. Tantot's will obliged his heirs to fulfill its conditions of a jazz funeral, with a full brass band, although the good people of Amiens and the surrounding country were shocked.

Arnold Townbee entered upon his duties as professor Byzantine and Modern Greek at King's College, London without knowing that the Greek donors who endowed his chair had stipulated certain terms of control. When his studies led him to discover and report the truth regarding Greek atrocities upon Turkish civilians during the famous retreat in the Asia Minor campaign, his resignation was in order. The London Nation made the following comment: "It is an invariable and almost sacred rule in all self-respecting universities that, when once money is given to the university for scientific purposes, it belongs absolutely to the university and the donor retains no control of power interference."

Will Investigate Need For Reforms

What is believed to be one of the most unusual experiments in recent educational investigations is the appointment, announced by President Ernest Martin Hopkins, of Dartmouth, of a committee of undergraduates to study and inquire into educational policies and tendencies of colleges in general and of Dartmouth in particular, with a view to reporting whether or not, in undergraduate opinion, changes in the present system are desirable and, if so, what these should be. The members of the committee will receive scholastic credit for their work of investigation.

The work of this committee is intended to supplement the work of Professor Leon B. Richardson, chairman of the faculty committee on educational policy, who has been requested by the trustees of the college to study at first hand conditions and methods of educational policy in colleges and universities of America and England. Professor Richardson is on leave of absence, engaged in the investigation.

President Hopkins said the investigation has been promoted by and is an attempt to utilize a great awakening of intellectual interest and enthusiasm in the undergraduate body which makes a new study of our methods and purposes desirable to the end that this interest may be maintained and increased and that it may be developed to the maximum of advantage for society.

President Hopkins further said he believed, in the past, too little attention had been paid to any opinions undergraduates might have had concerning the aims and methods of the colleges.

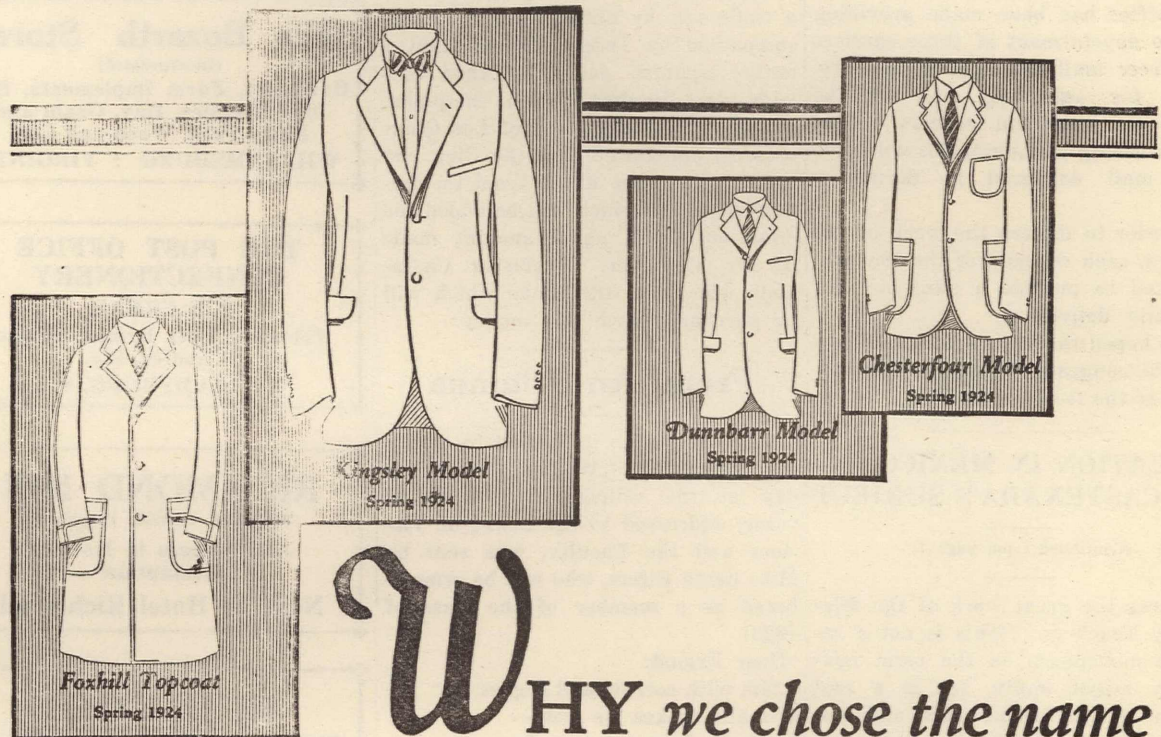

The undergraduates named on the committee appointed by the president, are supposed to represent most branches of undergraduate thought and activity and were selected from the list of high ranking scholars.

They are: C. G. Aschenbach, East Orange, N. J., captain of the 1923 football team; W. H. Cowley, Brooklyn, N. Y., editor-in-chief of the Daily

Dartmouth; W. S. Du Bois, Englewood, N. J.; J. A. Fleming, Helena, Mont.; W. A. Gardner, Montclair, N. J.; C. A. Knudson, Mamaroneck, N. Y.; F. F. Maclean, Missoula, Mont., editor the Jack o' Lantern; R. W.

Morin, Albert Lea, Minnesota, editor of The Bema; J. M. Reid, Denver, Col.; A. N. Thurston, Rockport, Mass., captain of baseball, and M. H. Watkins, Cleveland, Ohio, football and basket ball star.

WHY we chose the name Campus Togs for our clothes

Despite the fact that for twenty-five years we made our clothes and sold them under the label, Chas. Kaufman & Bros., we chose the name Campus Togs as significant of the new spirit in clothes for men of all ages.

For the past ten years we have featured Campus Togs as the trade label for our clothes. It seemed to us significant as a name that would indicate clothes designed and proportioned to please discriminating men. It also signifies in dress the breeze and smartness that the young man or college boy who travels the campus has, and which puts him in the envied class, at least from the standpoint of being youthful and making the most of his age in his appearance.

To also put youthful appearance into clothes for older men, was the new feature for our designing department to work out successfully, and in its achievement we confidently present clothes to the world, for all men, which measure up to the significance of the trade name we have chosen.

To Have Delivery Service After April 1

Free mail delivery will be a Williamsburg institution after April 1, according to a notice issued by Postmaster W. M. Thomas.

Increased appropriation to the local post office has been made providing for the appointment of three carriers to deliver mail throughout the city. Boxes for out-going mail will be placed on prominent corners. Students residing in dormitories will have their mail delivered in dormitory bulks.

In order to lighten the work of the carriers, each resident of the city will be asked to provide a mail box for the daily deliveries.

It is hoped that this system will relieve the congested conditions now existing at the local post office.

EDUCATION IN MEXICO CASTENADA'S SUBJECT

lated was the great work of the Missionary Teachers. "This is not a religious movement, as the term missionary might imply, but is a real system of education. Men and women give their time to the work, paying their own expenses, going into the far flung regions of Mexico, teaching the people—not the children alone, but adults as well—the fundamentals of reading, writing and arithmetic." With this fundamental knowledge, the speaker pointed out, the inhabitants are prepared to take advantage of the opportunity offered by the libraries which circulate at Government expense.

Following the lecture, Mr. Casta-neda showed a number of slides illustrating the work being done in education. In addition, he spoke of the recent movement to develop and improve the natural art among the Indians of Mexico, showing a number of slides of the characteristic art of these folk.

Other features of the program were a violin solo by Butler Daughtery, accompanied by Trixie Johnson, and a native Spanish dance by Anna Wilkens, with Virginia Hary at the piano.

Louise Sale, President of Los Quixotes, announced that the Club had realized the sum of $50 from the lecture series, to which will be added the donation of an equal amount made by Dr. Chandler. Professor Castaneda will select the books which will be purchased with this money.

From An Alumna

Replying to an invitation to attend the celebration of Washington's birthday at the College, the following verse, addressed to the Board of Visitors and the Faculty, was sent by Miss Leota Eifert, who will be remembered as a member of the class of 1923:

"Dear Friend:
"Tis with sorrow and regret,—
It really makes me fret—
To know I live so very far away.
I'd be travel-stained and worn
And from many dollars torn
To be with you on Washington's birthday.
But if money were not so rare,
And the weather very fair
I'd buy an airship and fly right down to you,
I would love to be back at college
Where I gained a deal of knowledge,
And hear again Drs. Chandler and Crane, too."

"Ruggles of Red Gap"—

When a grinning fate takes a polished valet straight from England to the "wild and woolly" West—you want to be there to see the fireworks. Red Gap isn't on the map of the United States, but it's on the movie map as the leading State of laughter. Edward Horton, Ernest Torrence, Lois Wilson, Fritz Ridgeway, Charles Ogle, and Louise Dresser.

"The Isle of Lost Ships"—

Then come three strangers, a beautiful girl, a detective and his prisoner, a man accused of murder—and although she would rather end her life than submit, she must choose a mate from among the men who offer. Two want her—and are willing to fight for the prize—the brute who rules the island the fugitive from the island.

Milton Sills, Anna Q. Nilsson and Walter Long in the cast.

FRIDAY, MARCH 21

"The Love Flower"—

D. W. Griffith production with an all-star cast.

SATURDAY, MARCH 22

Charles Jones, in "Big Dan."

Charles Jones as a prize-fighter is a knockout; Big Dan proves that boxing gloves with brawn hands inside are helpless before ladies' gloves, with white, delicate hands inside.

When a boxing champ looks for a wife—you'd better look the other way.

Scientific Fraternity Met Last Friday Night

The Chi Beta Phi scientific fraternity met Tuesday night in the Science Hall. At this meeting a letter was read notifying the chapter of the National Convention to be held in Lynchburg some time in May.

After discussing some prospective members, the club adjourned to meet March 29, at which time an election of new members will be held.

The medal was presented by L. Tucker Jones, Head of the Department of Physical Education, in the dining hall Tuesday. In presenting the medal Mr. Jones said that the test of civilization is desire to serve, and that the test of education is ability to render service, and a desire to do so.

"Here at William and Mary," he said, "we are trying to develop certain qualities such as cooperation, loyalty, determination, and forgetfulness of self. Miss Wilkens represents all these things, making it an added pleasure for me to act for the Red Cross in presenting this recognition of a noble deed."
